The Dutch Public Health Foresight Study (PHFS) 2018 provides insight into the most important future societal challenges for public health and healthcare in the Netherlands. These insights are relevant for SDG3 (Good health and well-being), as well as for several other SDGs. The SDGs and PHFS-2018 were developed by the United Nations. The Netherlands have also committed to these goals.

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are important international policy goals, which the United Nations has set for 2030. The Dutch Ministry of Health, Welfare and Sport is working on their implementation in the Netherlands. For more information, visit the website www.vtv2018.nl/en.
